Hiding the System. What are my options?

Ok, so you have a septic system in your yard. It is not something that has to be unattractive, but does have to be accessible and clear of overgrowth and roots. There are safe options and landscaping to cover your system.

If you really want to hide the system, Decorative Landscape Stones are an option. These rock-like decorative stones are gritty, tough and varied in color. The surface is astonishingly realistic and blends with other natural textures. They also come with optional vents for coverage over the aeration chamber.
